

School-based Traineeships

A cost effective solution for training young casual staff

What is a school based traineeship?

- A learning pathway for school students (Years 10, 11, or first term year 12) combining classroom learning with 'on the job' training.
- Trainees generally work 1 school day per week and weekends/school holidays. Arrangements are flexible to suit the trainee, workplace and school. Training/work impacts on school timetable.
- Student attend paid work 1 day a week. This can be on a nominated school day or combination of shifts, negotiated to suit all parties. Minimum 50 days over 12 month (380 hrs).

What are the benefits to my business?

- Attract and retain young people to the business.
- Develop a more productive, efficient and motivated team.
- QLD State Government subsidises the cost of training.
- Federal Government pay employer incentives – up to $4,750.
- Community involvement – be an employer of choice.

"My trainers were very supportive and I felt that I could achieve anything. As a School Based Trainee with B&L, I gained so much confidence through learning communication, selling, customer service & technology skills."
